Community Partners

Our mission is to support schools and local non-profit arts and literacy organizations. As school curriculum changes and new needs are identified, it is our job to assist and become a true community partner. One of the ways we can help you facilitate learning is through the creation and execution of your Makerspaces. We are uniquely positioned to transition your school from concept to a hands-on educational technology model with innovative design and learning.

in the classroom. Complimentary training adds value to your purchase by ensuring that your teachers are fully prepared to integrate these tools into your curriculum. Select times throughout the year we offer free workshops by experts in the educational technology field. These events generally coincide with our Educator Appreciation Days in Jan/April/Aug/Oct/Dec.

Educator Appreciation Days

Saturdays & Sundays in January are now Educator Shopping Days! 25% off even personal eligible items!

deferred billing program, tax exemption and discounts when applicable. Featured items and titles are not a comprehensive list so please do not hesitate to contact us for availability and pricing on any book or educational technology need. With notice, we can also set up on-site district demos for many of our items so teachers and administrators can see this technology in action before making a decision.

STEAM Nights:

We are committed to STEM, STEAM, and STREAM - supporting our schools as they embrace this educational model. In addition to the annual fall Makerfaire, we can host STEM nights for schools at our stores. These events not only support technology and innovation, but they can also be a fundraiser for your school or your Makerspace. A portion of the night's sales can be donated to the school to help them achieve their STEM/STEAM/STREAM Goals. Please email for additional details about our fundraising bookfair/makerfaire programs.

With advance notice we can schedule visits to your school for student events or technology nights, bringing DEMOS that allow hands-on interaction time and help you determine which tools will have the broadest reach.

Barnes & Noble Bookfair

At Barnes & Noble, we are as excited about learning and innovation as you are. We are always looking for new and exciting channels to support our local schools and organizations!

Tablets & e-Readers:

Tablets and e-Readers are great technology tools that capture the interest of today's tech savvy students. Whether in the classroom, library or as take-home devices, they provide students with access to digital books, educational apps and websites.

We offer a free content management program which protects the school district from unauthorized purchases and enables distribution of e-books in accordance with the industry's 1 to 1 policy, ensuring compliance with current copyright law. The devices also allow access to thousands of free eBooks which enables district budgets to go farther. With some of the best pricing around, and with complimentary training and professional development, the Samsung Nook family of Tablets and the Nook Glowlight Plus are perfect and affordable options for Title 1 students.

Your Barnes & Noble store is now on social media! Like, Follow, & Share to find out new information on books, events, promotions & café happenings!

Community Engagement:

Middle and high school students are invited to practice their writing skills and nominate a teacher who inspired!

Submissions may take the form of a poem, thank-you letter or essay and may be delivered or mailed to the local Barnes & Noble location along with the completed entry form.

Entries to the My Favorite Teacher Contest are due by Mar 1st. Visit bn.com/myfavoriteteacher or email crm2542@bn.com for additional details and digital entry forms.
